

Cal Poly leads the pack in electronic applications

A downward trend in applications to Cal Poly has turned around dramatically, thanks in part to a computerized application process that makes it easier for prospective students to apply.

Almost 15,500 students applied for the current school year, up 27 percent from more than 12,200 applications for 1993-94.

Almost half of the applications for this year came in on computer disks – about 7,200 – in only the third year of the program. Paperless applications for the 1996-97 year are expected to climb above 10,000.

Cal Poly was one of only two West

Simultaneous with the development of the electronic application and electronic recruiter, Cal Poly has almost doubled its intake of new freshmen, increasing from 1,310 new freshmen in 1992 to this year's record enrollment of 2,510 first-time freshmen.

Solicitation of vacation, sick leave

Employees are asked to donate sick leave or vacation credits on be-

Program.

She recently had surgery and must be off work for six months.

Donations of either sick leave or vacation credits will help her remain in pay status during her absence. Anyone interested in donating credit should contact Sondra Gorman in the College of Engineering, ext. 2131, for the Catastrophic Leave Donation Form.

Eligible state employees may donate up to 16 hours total of sick leave and vacation credit per fiscal year in increments of one hour or more.

Appointment

James Bermann will serve as interim department head for the Agricultural Engineering Department for 1995-96.

His office is in Room 101 in the Ag Engineering Building, and his phone extension is 2378.

Bermann came to Cal Poly in 1964.

E-mail appointments are still available for those faculty and staff members who need new photo IDs. Hours are between 8:15 and 9 am Monday through Wednesday.

To schedule an appointment, select F1 (Process Calendars) from the OfficeVision main menu. At the "Cal

Press F1 (Work with the day's schedule) and that day's appointment calendar will be displayed. Simply type your name in the area marked "description."

Anyone who does not have an OfficeVision account should call Andrea Kerns or Megan Boragine at Student Life and Activities, ext. 2476, to schedule an appointment.

Service Awards Luncheon tickets on sale

Tickets for the annual Service Awards Luncheon, set from 11:30 am to 1 pm Thursday, Oct. 19, are on sale. They cost $8 and are being sold until Friday, Oct. 13, by Geri Bolivar, Facility Services; Dottie Lambert, Purchasing; Janet Simmons, Natural Resources Management; Denice Wharton, El Corral; and Mary Yungman, Foundation Human Resources.

Cal Poly distributes application disks directly to all prospective students as well as to high school counseling centers and junior college transfer centers. Prospective applicants return the disk to Cal Poly. The process eliminates paper copies and, because certain "error checks" are in place, helps the student avoid mistakes when completing the form.

Director of Admissions James Maraviglia credits the computerized process and other recruitment techniques with helping turn around Cal Poly's shrinking student application pool.

New techniques include making campus brochures and informational literature available electronically. Cal Poly also has multimedia "electronic recruiters" that link prospective students throughout the country directly with the campus. The campus communication system automatically links prospective students to Cal Poly and enables the faculty and the Admissions office to communicate directly with all prospective students.

Surviving home building topic of Oct. 7 course

A one-day consumer seminar designed to create greater awareness about the pitfalls of building a house is being offered from 9 am to 4 pm in Engineering West, Room B-Lab, Saturday, Oct. 7.

"Having it Built," (or "Survival Skills for Building a House") will be taught by Bill Dexter, director of Cal Poly's California Center for Construction Education and a member of the Construction Management Department.

The seminar will focus on the often-overlooked aspects of purchasing construction services from architects, contractors and engineers. Participants will also learn how to deal with bankers, insurance agents, and building inspectors.

Such topics as site selection, choosing an architect, what to look for in a builder, how to evaluate cost estimates, understanding scheduling, the consequences of mechanics' liens, defects and warranties, and practical limitations of construction materials will be covered.

The program is co-sponsored by the Center for Construction Education and Extended Education. The fee for the seminar is $150 and includes a 70-page workbook.

To register or for more information, call Extended Education at ext. 2053.

Construction Management creates education center

The Construction Management Department has created a new education center that provides consumer training seminars to victims of natural disasters and other catastrophes and continuing education programs to building professionals.

The California Center for Construction Education, directed by Construction Management Department member and independent construction consultant Bill Dexter, was formed just after the January 1994 earthquake hit Southern California. The organization gave seminars on house building to Southern California residents who had lost homes in the temblor.

The center has since refined the seminar, titled "Having it Built," and has presented it to fire victims in Altadena, Malibu and north San Luis Obispo County.

The center also offers a continuing education program for construction professionals. The 12-course certificate program, Construction Business Practices, is intended for licensed contractors, engineers and suppliers and is taught through the Extended Education office.

For more information, call Dexter at ext. 6164.

County's Morros to be focus of Galerie exhibit

Sometimes called the "Seven Sisters," sometimes the Nine, San Luis Obispo County's Morros will be the focus of an exhibit of surrealist oil paintings by Jack Artusio in the UU Galerie from Wednesday, Sept. 27, through Sunday, Oct. 29.

Titled "Jack Artusio's Morros Series," the paintings are the culmination of more than 20 years of Artusio's drawing, painting and hiking the Morros, a chain of extinct volcanic cores starting from Islay Hill near the San Luis Obispo Airport to the Pacific Ocean at Morro Rock.

An artist's reception has been scheduled in the Galerie from 3 to 5 pm Sunday, Oct. 1.

Artusio studied at the Los Angeles Art Center on a scholarship he received in 1972. He moved to Morro Bay in 1974 and received a number of commissions to paint the Morros.

Also a classical pianist, Artusio teaches piano privately and paints part time with Douglas Bouman and Associates, a company that paints fine-art murals internationally.

Galerie hours are Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 10 am to 5 pm; Thursdays, 10 am to 8 pm; Fridays, 10 am to 4 pm; Saturdays, noon to 4 pm; and Sundays, 2 to 4 pm.

Distinguished teachers to sit on panel Oct. 3

Don Maas of the University Center for Teacher Education will moderate the Distinguished Teachers' Panel.

Check e-mail address in new on-line directory

During the summer, a new on-line Directory Server of faculty and staff information was implemented. The e-mail address included in that directory will be printed in the telephone directory coming out this fall. In addition, as soon as the mail-routing feature is implemented, the e-mail address in the on-line directory will also be used to forward e-mail from on and off campus.

Employees who have not already done so should check their e-mail address in the on-line directory and make any necessary changes by Friday, Oct. 6.

For more information, a copy of the Directory Server User Guide, or to correct your e-mail address, call User Support Services at ext. 7000. The user guide shows how to look at the directory and make changes if necessary.

Please note that to change your name, department and most other information in the Directory Server, you need to contact Human Resources or Telephone Administration.
